

U. S. Trying to Settle Strike
in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Feb. 12 (P)—The U. S. turned peacemaker today as a strike of 11,000 transit workers went into the second day, costing business and industry an estimated $10,000,000 daily.

The picture remained dark.
"There is no settlement in sight,"
said Michael Quill, international president of the CIO-Transport Workers union. He hinted the tie-up might be long—a month, maybe.

Local union President Andrew
J. Kaelin was less optimistic.
"We hope the new mediation will help us end the strike quickly," Kaelin said.

William J. MacReynolds, vice president of the Philadelphia Transportation company, said the federal mediator, "merely explored"
the situation. He reported both sides stood pat—at last night's conference—there was no discussion of terms.

Negotiations continue today.
The dispute is over wages and working conditions. The union demands a fourth round wage boost of 20 cents an hour. The PTC offered three cents. Workers' pay ranges from $1.09 to $1.63 an hour.

Meanwhile, thousands of men and women in the nation's third largest city are discovering how to walk—
long and far.

Automobiles and trucks, bumper to bumper, clog Philadelphia's icy streets during rush peaks to and from work.

John Murray of the U. S. Conciliation service stepped in as mediator last night. The government intervened on grounds that interstate commerce and foreign aid would suffer if the strike out-deeply into the Quaker city's industrial output.

Absenteeism in industrial plants
and business establishments averaged 15 to 20 per cent, he reported. An additional 20 per cent of the employers who did get to their jobs were late for work.

Down town retail stores said the strike's effect on their business was "severe."

Taxicab business was reported
"slightly above" normal.

Drivers for the Yellow Cab, incidentally, have voted to strike at Monday midnight in a wage dispute.

Russians Ban
Mercy Food
Shipments

Berlin, Feb. 12 (UP)—Russian officials have closed the western Berlin borders to mercy food shipments brought into Berlin by unauthorized children by the Swedish Red Cross, American authorities said today.

William T. Babcock, deputy military governor for Berlin, said the Russian ban went into effect a few days ago.

The action halted Swedish Red Cross relief shipments allocated to all four sectors of the blockaded
German capital.

Babcock said, however, that Swedish authorities were told by Russian deputy col Alexei Jelisa-reva that they would be given permits to bring in food for children living in the Soviet sectors.

American and Polish authorities
meanwhile denied a report that the Polish military mission was attempting to mediate a settlement of the Berlin crisis.

The new Russian ban also blocked relief shipments of powdered whole milk for tubercular children in Berlin brought in by another agency.

The three Western deputy commanders immediately assigned 22 tons of six paces per month to both the Swedish Red Cross and its companion agency for their supplies.

The letter carriers' union, the article states, would like to see some ancient methods and machines replaced by a mobile post office and a sorting machine. The mobile post office would be a light, inexpensive, long-sliding truck
with a detachable aluminum sorting case. It would carry parcel post as well as letters, and would pick up mail from storage boxes. Housewives could mail packages and buy some money and other necessities from the truck, instead of having to go perhaps a mile to a post office or substation.

It seems like a sensible idea, although the department so far has resisted it. And it also seems reasonable, once it is pointed out that anything as big and important as our mail service should not be as inefficient and convenient
as the delivery of milk or laundry.

There are two encouraging signs that something may at last be done to modernize postal methods. One is the Hoover Commission's work.
The other is the fact that our present postmaster general, Jesse Donahoe, is not a politician, but a man who started in the postal service as a letter carrier.

Mr. Velie calls his article "Let's Give the Postman a Break." We think the Washington powers-that-be should do so. The hard-working,
meagerly-paid courier does a fine job in the swift completion of his appointed rounds. But a little modernization would make that job swifter and easier, and lessen the companioning discomforts of snow
and rain and heat and gloom of night.

United Brothers of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local No.
2518, will meet 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15, at the WOW hall. The public is invited.

Antique Post Office Methods
Still Hammer Weary Mailmen

By JAMES THRASHER

A postman's lot, like a policeman's, is not a happy one. Sometimes, during the Christmas season just past, may have squandered sympathetic thoughts on the mail carrier and other postal employees as they struggled through the annual blizzard of letters and packages. But for the rest of the year we take his unhappy lot for granted.

However, the Hoover Commission has been giving plenty of thought to that unhappy lot in the course of its monumental inquiry into inefficient government operations. It has estimated, in a preliminary report, that $200 to $300 million a year might be saved
in the post office department
through changes and modernization.

Meanwhile, an idea of what might be done is given by Lester Velie, writing in Collier's magazine. The United States Post Office is the world's biggest employer and runs the world's biggest business. Its trucks and other postal operations aren't even of the horse-and-buggy era. For all our mechanization and speed today,
the postman still trudges his rounds toting a heavy sack, just as he has done since city mail delivery began.

What motorized assistance he does have is out of date. Mr. Velie adds. Postal truck bodies must be four feet off the ground, for that reason, standing high off loading platforms. But postmen, say that loading takes about half an hour
a day, after which they must spend seven and a half hours hoisting themselves in and out of the vehicle.

These trucks are tough on the men who ride them and also tough on the taxpayer's pocketbook. The custom-built antiquities cannot be turned out quickly or inexpensively.

Some truck builders will not bid for post office business, Mr. Velie says. And an order for 1480 new "old" trucks last summer cost $500,000 more than modern trucks would have.

'Red River' Ranch House Is Authentic

One of the oldest, authentic ranch houses in Arizona was used for exterior scenes in Howard Hawks' "RED RIVER" the spectacular western that was filmed in Elgin, Arizona, near the Mexican border.

Built in 1800, the ranch house portrays perfectly the period in which the film is laid, both before and after the Civil War.

United Artists is releasing "Red River", which co-stars John Wayne, Montgomery Clift, Walter Brennan and Joanne Dru. It bows in on February 20, at the Saenger Theatre.

Mass Housing Only Answer Says Woods

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods proposed today a temporary halt to single-family home building and a switch to mass housing for solution of the shelter shortage.

He testified before the Senate housing economic committee which had just heard evidence of a slight turn toward lower construction costs.

Raymond M. Foley, housing and home finance administrator, reviewed building cost rises since the war and concluded:

"There is some evidence that construction costs may be stabilizing and that a turning point may have been reached."

Woods, following Foley to the stand, told the committee multiple apartment construction is both cheaper and faster. He went on:

"If the total supply of manpower and building materials cannot be expanded rapidly enough to produce more than 1,000,000 units a year, then I would recommend temporarily the deliberate discouragement of the construction of single family units for sale."

The switch, Woods suggested, could be achieved by "a deliberate tightening of credit and risk insurance requirements for homes, and by giving additional incentives to builders of multiple unit structures."

Woods also renews his demand for reimposition of rent controls in stronger form.

Pledges GOP to Watch Foreign Policy

Detroit, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The defeated Republican party was pledged by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) today to the job of watching over American foreign policy.

Vandenberg declared the last election had not altered the "basic needs" for a bi-partisan foreign policy and he said the GOP would hold the Democratic administration to "strict accountability."

He said it was the GOP's duty as "loyal opposition" to see that America's foreign policies are "sound and firm."

Meanwhile political friends and foes alike were deploring the senator's decision to quit public life after 1948.

Vandenberg, long a major voice in international affairs, made his retirement announcement coincident with his Lincoln day appearance here yesterday.

Last night an obvious reference to last November's Democratic election victory, Vandenberg told a home state Lincoln day dinner:

"In my view, nothing has happened to absolve either Democrats or Republicans from continuing to put their country first."

He also promised continued support of the United Nations and declared the cold war could be ended words.

Earlier Vandenberg disclosed his intention to retire in 1952 after completing his present term.

One of those to express regrets was Sen. Connally (D-Tex.). Vandenberg's post-election successor as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

"I regret it very much," Connally said.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.) called Vandenberg "a very great and fine public servant" and said he hoped the Michigan senator would "change his mind."

"Likewise, Sen. Byrd (D-Va) and Sen. George (D-Ga) said it would be a "great and distinct loss."

Sen. Ives (R-NY) said for Vandenberg to retire would be "calamitous for the country."

Rice Moves Up in Loop Standings

By the Associated Press

Rice's Owls moved into a first place tie with Baylor and Arkansas in Southwest Conference basketball standings by defeating Southern Methodist, 62-50, at Houston Thursday night.

In the Rice-SMU tilt sophomore Joe McDermott and big Bill Tom each hitting 17 points, were the big guns for Rice. As the Owls overcame an early SMU lead and remained in front.

After going ahead, 17 to 16, Rice surged to a 33-23 halftime advantage. The 10-point margin, however was all but wiped out in the first three minutes of the second half, primarily on the sharp shooting of sophomore Charlie Lutz, Mustang guard.

Aided by charity tosses by Bob Fawcett and Jack Brown, SMU's high score with 18 points. Lutz tank three field goals and a free toss in rapid succession to reduce the Rice lead to four points.

McDermott came to the Owls' rescue and sent the score to 46 to 37.

Prewitt and Brown reduced the Rice lead to 53-48 with five minutes remaining, only to see Lutz fouled out. Two field goals and a foul free shot by David Cook increased the Owls' lead again in the closing minutes.

DOROTHY DIX Extravagant Wife

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man approaching middle age and have been married 15 years. I love my wife and she is a good woman, but she is very extravagant and runs our household on such a lavish scale that we are perpetually in debt. I have always earned a good income, but we have never been able to put a cent for emergencies or our old days. When I attempt a practical discussion of the condition, my wife goes into hysterics.

I am now faced with the necessity of either drifting on a life of life on a hand-to-mouth existence, or of putting my wife on a fixed allowance and closing all charge accounts. What would you advise me to do?

WORRIED HUSBAND

Answer: You are quite right. In wanting to put some money aside for the rainy day, it comes to us all, and if we have laid nothing for that evil time, our fate is a bit terrible. There is nothing else so terrible as to be old and poor and dependent.

I believe in husbands dealing fairly and generously with their wives about money, and I have fought in season and out of season to induce men to give their wives an allowance on which to run the house and for their own personal use. In the great majority of cases this arrangement is perfectly satisfactory, for most women are thrifty and anxious to save and help their husbands along.

Senseless Spender

But occasionally there is a wife like yours in whose pockets money burns, who is a senseless spender who can never see anything with out buying it and who runs up bills with anybody who will give her credit. In such cases the husband should keep all of the money in his hands and take the most drastic measures to shut off her F. Reynerson and Mrs. Hugh Hall, Counselors.

Tuesday:
4:00 p.m. Junior or Carol Choir will meet for rehearsal at the church.

Wednesday:
6:30 p.m. The Intermediate R. A.'s will meet at the church; Ira Yocum, Jr., Counselor.

Thursday:
VISITATION DAY—10, 2, 4, and 7 o'clock.
Friday:
7:15 p.m. Adult Choir Rehearsal.

GRIEF STRIKEN

Answer: To lose a child is a great and terrible grief. As long as you live your heart will ache for the lost one; but if all mothers who have wept over their children's graves let their loss turn them hard and bitter, as you have done, what a terrible world this would be! Thank God, most mothers let their sorrows sanctify them and make them more loving, more tender, more pitiful to all weak and helpless creatures.

So I say to you: Be brave enough to put your grief behind you and live for your husband, who depends on you. Deny yourself the morbid pleasure of your sorrow. Dry your tears and put on your face the smile that won't come off. Then work. There is nothing like work to take you out of your sorrows and make you think of other things besides your loss.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a woman of 26 and hold a very fine position. My mother is simply crazy for me to get married and she simply harps upon the subject all the time. I have been going with a boy for a couple of years and I like and admire him very much, but I am definitely not in love with him. Yet Mother keeps pushing me into matrimony. The boy loves me, but do you think it would be fair for me to marry him under the circumstances?

MARY T

Answer: Certainly not. You would be miserable yourself and you would make the man miserable, and your marriage would almost assuredly end in divorce. Don't let your mother persuade you into marrying this man by telling you that you would fall in love with him after you are married. You would not. You would come to hate him and you could find marriage intolerable.

Two Union Officials Hurt in Brawl

East Moline, Ill., Feb. 11.—(AP)—About 20 persons were injured, including two top officials of the CIO United Auto Workers, in a 20-minute pitched battle yesterday between some 300 members of two rival CIO unions.

Both officials were arrested after the bloody brawl at the gates of the East Moline works of the International Harvester Company. On one side were some 70 UAW organizers. They were opposed by more than 200 workers at the plant, members of the United Farm Equipment Workers Union.

Thirteen of the injured received treatment at a hospital for bloody and broken noses, cuts, broken arms, bashed heads and cracked ribs. Only one was a plant worker. The UAW unionists injured included John W. Livingston of Detroit, UAW vice president and director of the union's agricultural implement department, and Pat Grethouse of Chicago, UAW regional director.

Later Livingston and Grethouse were arrested on a disorderly conduct complaint signed by Arvid Sheets, president of FE local 104. Sheets said he will ask state warrants today, charging the two CIO officials with inciting a riot. They were summoned to appear today before a police magistrate on the disorderly conduct charges.

Sheets said about 70 UAW organizers appeared at the gates at the close of the day shift to distribute leaflets in the UAW union's campaign to absorb the FE. The FE, which holds bargaining rights at the plant for about 2,500 workers, has refused to abide by an order of the national CIO to merge with the UAW.

Wonderboys Edging Nearer Title

Little Rock, Feb. 12 (AP)—Arkansas Tech is closer to the championship of the Ozarks still is pursuing, and Arkansas State Teachers are out of the running.

That's the picture in the Arkansas Intercollegiate conference basketball race today.

Again it was Deward Dopson, the lanky sophomore center, who pulled Tech over the hump. But, although he scored 31 points, the Wonderboys had a hard time edging Ouachita's Tigers, 60 to 53, at Russellville last night. Boyle led the Bengals to 19 markers.

It was the third game within a week in which Dopson tallied 31 or more points. He got 20 of them in the first half to give Tech a 35-25 lead after 17 minutes. Ouachita chopped that to 35-31 by the intermission and stayed close the remainder of the time.

Ozarks poured in on Arkansas A. M. 62 to 23, at Clarksville in the only lopsided conference game last night. Charlie Roffine and Bob Barolin set the pace for the Mountaineers, dumping in 17 and 14 points respectively.

Henderson's Reddies hung a sixth defeat on the once-proud defending champions of State Teachers, who simply have fallen apart since the season of the season. The second at Clarksville was 52-50.

But Henderson had to come from behind to do it, a set shot by Bobby Reece with only seconds to go turning the trick. Teachers had led by ten points at halftime. Rollings, Henderson, was high point man with 18.

Another close one at Batesville saw Magnolia A. & M. nudge Arkansas College, 49 to 47. Highlander Guard Henry Stewart held A. & M.'s great Duke Walker to eight points, but the Mulieriders still had a little too much. Bobby Rutherford of Arkansas College led the scorers with 17 points.

Ozarks will entertain Ouachita and Henderson will visit Hendrix tonight.

Amber Hurt, May Be Out Against Texas

Fayetteville, Feb. 12 (AP)—Texas' Longhorns and the crippled Arkansas Razorbacks will play their Southwest Conference basketball title hopes on the line against each other here tonight.

Were the Razorbacks in top physical condition they would be favored for their ticketed Texas at Austin Monday night.

But Arkansas' star sophomore center, Bob Amber, has turned up with a twisted ankle, suffered in practice since Monday's game. The ankle has been treated steadily by Trainer Sam Lankford in hopes that Amber will be able to play part of the time at least.

POP Goes the QUEEN

By Bob Wade and Bill Miller
Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Assigned to Cottage 13, the new scout, John Henry and Sin Conover, quiz show winners, receive an unexpected visit from an armed man, Homer Anglin, soon after their arrival. Later, Anglin appears where the boys are dining and tells John Henry "You have already got it," before he dies from a bullet wound. Returning to their cottage, the Conovers find it occupied by Faye Jordan and their luggage moved after being searched to Cotage 14 next door. Johnny speculates that Faye was to meet Anglin but through a mixup in numbers, there being no Cottage 13, he came to the wrong one. Johnny decides to "get chummy" with Faye and since he cannot get into the cottage, he sneaks in through the laundry chute.

The morning sun had already sent golden rays like soft-tipped arrows to invade the palm-shaded grounds of the hotel. On the porch, Vernon, the depressed, bellhop, departed from Cottage 14 with the dirty dishes and few remnants of breakfast. Sin returned to the living room a moment later, her hair brushed and her smile as boyish as that of a girl.

"Johnny, what are you doing?" John Henry stopped peeking out doors behind slats of the Venetian blinds and spun hastily, his round face guilty. "Just looking out," was the best he could think of.

"What at?" Sin went to the window herself. "Oh" She raised one stern eyebrow at her husband. The occupant of Cottage 15 was disappearing down the flagstone path toward the hotel. There was a great deal of pale skin and her white knitted bathing suit did not cover.

"Just checking up," John Henry said, "anyway."

"I heard her door slam and was curious. Ever since you figured out that cottage number business."

"Now see here, John Henry—"

"Sin, where you going, Johnny?"

"Back in a few minutes," John Henry said from the doorway. "After all that's happened, I want to grill this Jordan woman."

"I won't be long."

"John Henry—I warn you—"

"I know you'll be reasonable, Sin."

John Henry Conover closed the blue door in time to block the pillow-hunter's reasonable wife.

Amber Hurt, May Be Out Against Texas

Fayetteville, Feb. 12 (AP)—Texas' Longhorns and the crippled Arkansas Razorbacks will play their Southwest Conference basketball title hopes on the line against each other here tonight.

Were the Razorbacks in top physical condition they would be favored for their ticketed Texas at Austin Monday night.

But Arkansas' star sophomore center, Bob Amber, has turned up with a twisted ankle, suffered in practice since Monday's game. The ankle has been treated steadily by Trainer Sam Lankford in hopes that Amber will be able to play part of the time at least.

The Hempstead District Boy Scout Committee is organized and charged with administering the scout program within the district and carrying out the policies of the Caddo Area Council Boy Scouts of America.

The District Committee members are: Clifford Franks, District Chm., J. J. Jones, District Chairman, J. Arvil Holman, Field Scout, Executive—Secretary for the Committee, E.R. Brown, Chairman of Organization and Extension, Chm. of Camping and Activities, and Dr. Jim McKenzie, Chm. of Health and Safety.

Chairman of advancement, training and finance have not been announced for 1949.

Each institute that sponsors a scout unit a representative on the committee.

Also several members at large represent various organizations in a district.

Activities for 1949
Scouting is very fitting for the thirty ninth anniversary. Much of the scouting during the past thirty nine years has been adventure.

Some of the highlights in the program last year were: A participation in the dozens of scout skills, games, songs, ceremonies, stunt and contests in regular weekly meetings. Then there was the activities in which scout units from all over Hempstead District were invited to participate.

These included a kite flying contest, Court of Honor, Spring Campfire at Fair Park, and the fall roundup.

Adventure also went beyond our country lines. A number of troops from this district took part in the contests at the spring campfire at Camp Preston Hunt, along with scouts from eight other districts. Last fall our scout were proudly presented in a three day camp at Preston Hunt, at Thanksgiving.

Scouts from Hempstead who attended summer camp at Camp Pioneer, near Mona declared that a week or in days stay there was the answer to a real scout's dream—fishing, roving, swimming, exploring, scout skills, games, campfires, marksmanship, and plenty of camp cooked food.

The good number of Cub scouts took part in the kite flying contest last March and the Cub Olympics in May was another high spot in their year's program.
